LEGISLATURE OKAYS OLD AGE AND BLIND PENSIONS MONEY

State-Aided Hospitals Will
Also Receive $1,000,000
Emergency Fund

LEGISLATION LATER

Resolution is Adopted to Make
The Payments At This Time

By G. Everett Doying
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 6.—(INS)—Uninterrupted payments of old age and blind pensions and an emergency distribution of $1,000,000 to needy state-aided hospitals were assured by the Legislature in a session lasting into early morning hours today.

After hearing a personal plea from Gov. George H. Earle, the Republican Senate and the Democratic House united in passing without debate a resolution authorizing continuance of pensions and payment of the overdue hospital subsidies. The resolution, sponsored by Rep. Morton Witkin, Philadelphia Republican, authorized fiscal officers to pay pensions and hospital subsidies without appropriations, pledging the Legislature to pass necessary bills legalizing this action. All the money must be repaid by December 31, 1935.

Consisting of a series of five bills, the enabling legislation was up for second reading in the Senate today and was scheduled to become law next Monday night.

The Senate was to pass the pension and hospital bills finally Wednesday and adjourn for the week. The House may also pass them this week, on Friday, or wait until Monday night. In either event, the formalities of sending the measures to Governor Earle were scheduled for Monday.

The bills provide that $3,200,000 be transferred from the motor fund to provide $2,776,000 for paying monthly pensions to 32,000 needy aged and $422,000 to pay pensions to 4,200 indigent blind until June. Another $1,000,000 is transferred by the bills from the fire insurance tax fund to permit partial payment of more than $2,000,000 overdue in state subsidies to hospitals for free care of charity patients.

The Governor included the $1,000,000 for hospitals in his program after hearing a delegation of hospital representatives tell him those institutions were being forced to close their doors because the state has not paid its subsidies since November.

With the legislative skids greased under the transfer bills, in reply to Governor Earle's personal plea that the empty pension coffer "constitutes a situation of grave enough character to warrant its definition as a real emergency," the Legislature tackled also the accumulating business of the session before it.

The House Ways and Means Committee, with Rep. Roy D. Furman, Greene, pinch-hitting for floor leader Frank W. Ruth, Berks, who is ill, resumed hearings on the administration's tax bills designed to raise $203,000,000 biennially in new revenue. The tobacco and amusement taxes, the proposed change from county to state in collecting the personal property tax and several miscellaneous levies were up for consideration. All the tax bills sent to the House calendar last week, except the chain store levy, were sent back to committee for the hearings.

Chairman Robert S. Gawthrop of the Liquor Control Board was still on the stand for the third week's hearings by the House Liquor Inquiry. Sessions were scheduled for this afternoon, tonight, tomorrow afternoon and possibly Thursday.

The House also received the Administration's workmen's compensation

POPE CONDEMNS NUDISM AS HORRIBLE BLASPHEMY

Deals Severely With Topic In Annual Address To
Lenten Preachers

TO PRAY FOR ATHEISTS

By Guglielmo Emanuel
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

VATICAN CITY, Mar. 5.—The cult of nudism was condemned as a "horrible blasphemy" by Pope Pious XI. today.

The Pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church dealt very severely with the topic he has chosen for discussion. He characterized it as distortion of Paganistic practices and threw the full weight of his vigorous personality into its condemnation.

Pope Pious took cognizance of the spreading cult in delivering his annual address to Lenten preachers and curates now gathered in Rome. Without preamble he called attention to the paganistic life of modernistic pleasure seekers and castigated the "horrible cult of nudity and shamelessness of modern nudists."

"This," he said, "is a horrible blasphemy. Nudism existed in ancient Paganism, but even then it existed only in art. It has not been true that paganistic nudism existed in actual life, nor was it customary in ancient Rome or Greece."

The Pope also announced a special day for world prayer for the restoration of "injuries to God" by Atheists and for their conversion. These prayers will be said on Passion Sunday, April 7th. The Pontiff will participate in a special ceremony at St. Peter's Church.

Johnson Assails Huey P. Long in Speech

NEW YORK, Mar. 5.—(INS)—Supporters and critics alike of General Hugh S. Johnson were agreed today that the former director of the National Recovery Administration has lost none of his verbal fire and straight-from-the-shoulder style of talking.

In one of the most forthright and fiery speeches heard in a long time General Johnson last night warmly defended the New Deal and assailed two of its most outspoken critics, United States Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana and Father Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit.

General Johnson charged openly that both Senator Long and Father Coughlin were inciters of revolt and said he was prepared to meet vehement reaction to his statements.

"Stripped of the facts, and whether consciously or not, these two men are raging up and down this land preaching not construction, but destruction, not reform, but revolution, not peace, but a sword," he said at one point. "I think we are dealing with a couple of catinates and that it is high time for somebody to say so."

He characterized Father Coughlin and Senator Long as leaders of an "emotional fringe" and derided their economic proposals.

"Hitler couldn't hold a candle to Huey in the art of the old Barnum ballyhoo," he declared.

The disappearance of "spontaneous co-operation" by a free people, he said, was the greatest menace of the immediate future.

"Any fool knows you can't clear the wreckage of twelve years' madness in two years' time," he said. "But the push is gone. The drive is stopped."

He added that if the plans of the present administration fail to work out nothing we can hope to do will keep a dictator out of Washington.

TIDE OF UNREST RISING IN BRITAIN PRESAGES SHAKEUP IN COALITION CABINET SOON

Lloyd George Now Big Fly In Government's Ointment

By H. K. Reynolds
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, March 5.—(INS)—Great Britain's "National Government" is going through a critical period.

Political circles are expectant of a Cabinet shake-up, and the reconstruction of the Government is being widely discussed.

It may consist only of a re-shuffling of the present personnel, or it involves the bringing of "new blood" into the coalition ministry as a means of stemming the rising tide of unrest in the country.

The leaders of the Conservative party, former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, now Lord president of the Cabinet, is the man who holds the key to the situation, and any changes which are made will depend upon his decisions.

At the moment he faces a dilemma. For the political situation is not sufficiently crystallized to enable him to know whether to turn to the right (within the Conservative party) or to the left (among the Liberals) to choose the new ministers.

For a year or more there has been talk of Cabinet changes, mostly concerned with the resignation of Foreign Minister Sir John Simon, but matters have lately been brought to a head by three factors: (1) The split among the Tories over the Government's Indian policy, and (2) country-wide outcries against the revised dole regulations, and (3) the "new deal" program of David Lloyd George.

Lloyd George is at the moment one of the flies in the Government's ointment, but there is a definite movement to make him a member of the Cabinet.

Unofficially, he has been approached by certain Conservatives to see what he thinks about it, and it is understood that he would not refuse an invitation to return to Whitehall—under certain conditions. These would be expected to include the elimination from the Government of some of its leading figures, including Prime Minister Ramsey MacDonald, and Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain.

On the other hand, it is known that Chamberlain would not want to remain in a Cabinet in which Lloyd George was a member.

It is extremely doubtful if Baldwin would consider sacrificing Chamberlain as that would mean another split in Tory ranks, while Baldwin's personal obligations to MacDonald growing out of the formation of the first National Government would keep him from dropping the Prime Minister.

Some quarters suggest, however, that MacDonald might be persuaded to give way, as his popularity and following in the country is definitely on the downgrade; or if he insisted on remaining in the government, he might be shifted to the Foreign Office.

Sir John Simon, it is suggested, could be "reconstructed" into the House of Lords or appointed Home Secretary. MacDonald could move across Downing street to the Foreign Office, and Baldwin would move from No. 11 to No. 10, again taking the portfolio of Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury.

The trouble about this scheme, as has been demonstrated before, is that Simon wants to remain at the Foreign Office. Some months ago an attempt was made to shift him to another Ministry, whereupon he threatened to resign from the Cabinet, throwing in his lot with the Liberal opposition in the House of Commons. That would mean the collapse of the "National Government" as such.

CAR, CRANKED WHILE IN REVERSE, DAMAGES PORCH

Auto of Dr. E. J. Laing Speeds
Down Radcliffe Street and Up Over High Curb

NO ONE IS INJURED

A coupe, cranked while in reverse, speeded backward down Radcliffe street, last night, hurtled up over a high curb and struck the porch at the residence of Mrs. Charles Williamson.

The automobile was that of Dr. Edward J. Laing, Bristol Township. Dr. Laing had just emerged from the Elks' home, and proceeded to crank the car, forgetting that it was in gear. The machine shot away from him as the motor "clicked," shot across the street and onto the pavement. Some damage was done to the Williamson porch, one post being knocked completely from position, and a second one dislodged.

The car was not damaged, and no one was in it at the time.

It is believed that serious injuries would have been suffered by the veterinarian had the motor been in either of the forward gears, as he was in the act of cranking the machine when it suddenly shot backwards.

MARRIAGE LICENSES SHOW A DECLINE

Number Is 54 Short of First
Two Months Last Year

158 GRANTED PERMITS

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 5.—The marriage license bureau at the Bucks County court house is 54 licenses short of the first two months last year, a check-up of the January and February records for 1935 reveals.

"Business is not on the bum exactly," Deputy Clerk of Orphans' Court Jacob Shelly, declared today, "but the roads have been pretty bad and I believe that accounts for it. We are looking for an increase in March and at the rate we are going now we will make up the first two-month loss of fifty-four."

During February this year there were 158 couples granted licenses, compared to 170 in February last year. January this year showed a decrease of 42 over the same month last year. This drop in business is not alarming however, for the year 1934 was a record breaker for Bucks county's matrimonial bureau, where a total of 2558 licenses were granted in twelve months.

During the past ten years, including the first two months of this year, there were 14,311 marriage licenses granted in Bucks county, a total that places Bucks county among the leaders outside of the large city centers of Pennsylvania over that period.

Approximately 70 per cent. of the was brought here by non-residents of marriage license business in February Bucks county, the docket shows. Fifty-six applicants came from Trenton while more than sixty came from Philadelphia.

Civil ceremonies in February outnumbered the religious ceremonies for marriages in February, while in January, the ministers married more than the Justices of the Peace and Burgesses.

There were eight divorced men and nine divorced women granted licenses in February. Fifty-two per cent. of the female applicants told the clerk they had occupations other than housework. There was no great disparity in the ages of the couples granted licenses in February, but only eleven of the applicants were under twenty-one. The most popular age scale for February was between twenty-four and thirty.

When he asked what was the best time to get married, to find a partner or a qualified civil officer at home," a Trenton applicant yesterday was informed that it is possible to get married any week day in Bucks county, any time of the day or night. It is always possible to get married in Bucks county, but at the same time, it was explained, all applications are carefully scrutinized.

Marriage license applications are issued after regulation office hours in the Orphans' Court office, at the home of Orphans' Court Clerk John T. Thompson, Point Pleasant, or at the home of Deputy Clerk Jacob Shelly, Doylestown.

Doylestown has a number of clerymen who marry people at the convenience of the applicants, and the same is true of Justices of the Peace and a Burgess who can be reached at any hour of the day or night.

The ages of the applicants who applied

HATS OFF TO BUCKS AGAIN

It took that Bucks county jury three or four hours to decide that those Philadelphia gangsters were guilty of murder in the first degree and there was no recommendation of mercy in the verdict.

The closer one watches the operation of the criminal court at Doylestown the stronger becomes the conviction that society will not be menaced by gangsters if society will merely adopt the obvious means of protecting itself.

The greatest need in this state today is the same kind of administration of justice in all the counties which prevails in Bucks.

PLEAS ARE HEARD AND PAROLES ARE GRANTED BY COURT

Two Pleasant Valley Youths
Are Sentenced to the Reformatory

ROELOFS MAN TO JAIL

Must Serve Thirty Days for Driving Machine While Intoxicated

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 5.—Pleas were taken and paroles disposed of yesterday at the session of Bucks county's miscellaneous court with President Judge Hiram H. Keller presiding.

Two Pleasant Valley youths, charged with the theft of an automobile that bandits from Detroit used in the stick-up of the Coopersburg bank on January 11, pleaded guilty. They are Harry Repyneck, 20, and Franklin Landis, 22, both of whom were committed to the Huntingdon Reformatory for an indeterminate sentence.

Sergeant Reese L. Davis, of the State Police, and City Detective Michael Fox, of Bethlehem, testified that they arrested the two boys. In Court the boys told Judge Keller that they were forced to steal the car by two others, one of whom is being held in Lehigh county as an accessory after the fact in the bank robbery case, and one who is still at large.

The car belonged to Frank Sklodowski, of Coopersburg RD, and was stolen from in front of a Quakertown mill on the night of January 10, and driven by Repyneck and Landis several blocks, where it was turned over to Repyneck's "big brother," Frank, and the man who is still at large. The car later came in possession of the bank robbers.

Kalman Repyneck, father of one of the defendants, went loudly after the disposition of the case, declaring that he already has two sons in the Eastern State penitentiary and now another will go to the reformatory. Judge Keller advised him to get in touch with the relief authorities in his home township.

Charged with driving while drunk, Freeman Charles, of Roelofs, pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Judge Keller yesterday to serve a sentence of not less than 30 days or more than three years in the Bucks County Prison. Charles testified that he met two fellow workmen in Trenton and that on the way home they gave him a drink of beer that contained a "shot" of whiskey.

J. M. Dunwoodie, of Philadelphia, head of a well known trucking concern, was granted a parole yesterday by Judge Keller after he had served a minimum sentence of three months to 18 months in the County Prison for drunken driving.

John Reiker, 21, of Trenton, who pleaded guilty two weeks ago to stealing lead from a Morrisville plant valued at $7, was sent home after being discharged by Judge Keller, who advised the boy to look up the relief board for assistance after he arrived back in Trenton. He placed Reiker on probation.

Formal written motions were filed yesterday for new trials for Martin Farrell and Francis Wiley, convicted last Saturday night of murder in the Bucks County court.

With thirty-five cases for trial the March term of civil and equity court of Bucks county will open next Monday, March 11.

INTEREST IN TRIAL

During the trial of the Farrell-Wiley murder cases in the Bucks county court house at Doylestown last week, approximately 300,000 words were sent over the telephone wires at the specially built Postal station in the Lehman Building.

This news went to newspapers throughout the United States over special leased wires controlled by the various press services.

In addition to the telegraphed dispatches, all of which were known as "running copy," at least 200,000 additional words were written for local and nearby newspapers.

Seven out-of-town reporters, 4 of whom covered "first-story" assignments for metropolitan newspapers at the Lindbergh trial in Flemington, covered the trial at Doylestown. Outstanding among the visiting scribes were George Mahwinney; Frank Toughhill, Record; Ted Wilcox, Evening Bulletin; Ralph Cropper, Evening Ledger. Incidentally, Toughhill was the first scribe in America to release the Hauptmann murder verdict at Flemington.

There were six news photographers assigned to the Farrell-Wiley murder case, and six telegraph operators.

Incidentally, the news reporters, photographers and telegraph operators, in addition to the hundreds from out of town who listened to the trial, left in Doylestown an estimated $10,000.

All this was without a show like Flemington staged.

CHINA'S LOVE INSTRUCTOR

Through its movies, Hollywood is teaching China to make love. Stories come across the Pacific of how the Chinese younger generations are learning from the screen that lips were meant for kisses, despite what the Chinese say.

China doubtless will be all the better if it loses some of its static civilization and replaces it with a measure of the dynamic civilization of the Western World, including even a modicum of what passes for civilization in Hollywood. Life can not all be made up of the worship of ancestors, at any rate not when life is young and hearts are singing.

Still, if China's sons and daughters are to learn love from Hollywood, it is to be hoped that the movie capital will not be too disregardful of its high responsibility. The Hollywood pace can scarcely be an easy pace for novitiates in the Orient, where some of our old blue laws forbidding wives and husbands to kiss on Sunday have their counterparts not in laws but in ancient everyday customs.

From the Hollywood area there now comes a story not of the eternal triangle but of the quadrangle. Would it not be possible for Hollywood to confine itself to teaching love to China in its simpler forms at first, while at least deferring what might be called love's geometry?

SIGNS OF SPRING

Much as one regrets such an exhibition of little faith, there appear to be some that did not take the Groundhog's forecast seriously when, on February 2nd, he came forth from his winter home and told the world that an early spring was in the offing.

But what do these poor pessimists say as they read of the ball players who are getting started for southern training camps, if they follow the sports news, or what do they say as the seed catalogues begin to clutter their tables, if they follow the news of the gardens? Here are infallible signs that spring is just around the corner, even though they do not necessarily agree with the Groundhog's pronouncement that it virtually is at hand.

Why, however, be concerned about the unbelievers? There are believers to consider, too. One of them, it may be said, is none other than Babe Ruth himself. For from across the Atlantic comes the voice of the Bambino, now a globe trotter, saying, it seems, "Oh, to be in America, now that spring and baseball contracts are there." Some will say, perhaps that the Babe is merely homesick, because nobody knew him in Paris. We prefer to consider his words another sure sign of spring.

She was in high spirits now.

She had honor and independence, and a serious outlook. If she had a few illusions about life, she had the strength and courage to face facts.

Now that he knew her better, now that the burgled feelings stirred, Arline no longer clouded his judgment. Seward found that he couldn't picture this girl accepting costly gifts from him or meeting him for clandestine weekends out of town.

Yet hadn't he thought the same thing about Arline? Had he learned anything from that experience? A girl could look angelic, unapproachable, and yet sell out; there was the lesson he should have by heart—and he had almost forgotten it!

After the theater Seward had meant to make a round of the night clubs, dancing, drinking, to a late hour. Cathleen let him take her to the first place on his list, but it was obvious she didn't care for it. The place was full of smoke and blare and jingling rhythm, and the little table they found was elbowed much too closely by other tables.

"What'll you have? The Scotch here's fine—or would you rather have champagne? This place gets good early. We'll go uptown later on."

"It must be pretty late already!" she exclaimed. "I thought we'd be having some ice-cream—nothing more, surely, so late as this. What a wild kind of a place this is, with no air in it to breathe!"

"If you smoked yourself you wouldn't notice the air. You ought to learn to smoke. Go on, try this—"

He passed her the cigarette, he had just lighted for himself, and Cathleen, feeling that she had been a little ungracious about the night club, put it between her lips and drew on it as he directed.

"There's little danger of my getting to care for it—"

"Now take my brother Joe—he's about your age. He always said he couldn't get a job and it was no use looking for one. I told you he went to work yesterday, thanks to Mr. Ingram. But I know he could have got one sooner, by trying. I shall die of shame if he doesn't make good. It was so kind of your father to say a word for him, just because he's my brother!"

"Nice to you, is he?" asked Seward with careful carelessness.

"He's wonderful," she cried. "Always pleasant and considerate. He would be," said Seward.

"Well, everybody isn't. . . Lots of bosses think working people are just machines."

Seward, beginning to feel a little uncomfortable, said hastily, "We didn't come out to solve the world's problems. Let's dance."

They danced, forgetting social injustices, until they felt hungry series of measures relating to Philadelphia and sent them to the Senate.

The Senate had up for final passage the Buckman bill providing for selection of two extra jurors at criminal and civil trials to prevent mistrials because of illness of members of the panel. The upper chamber approved a series of miscellaneous bills, most of them making individual appropriations to state-aided institutions and advanced nearly a score more of these measures to the floor to final action calendar for tomorrow.

Hearings before the Senate Constitutional Changes Committee on the administration constitutional revision bill were to be concluded Wednesday with representatives of the State Chamber of Commerce, the State Bar Association and other groups scheduled to be heard. Senator G. Mason Owlett, Tioga, committee chairman, said the committee probably would not meet until next week to decide what action to take on the measure.

The House adopted a resolution paying tribute to former Representative Patrick Enright who died at Bethlehem.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

ES ANN FACT

THE best news possible for the opening of Lent is that with water fish is plentiful and cheap. Eggs too, are popular substitutes for meat and their price has dropped ten cents a dozen in the past week. The third most popular Lenten food is cheese—and its price is low in proportion to its excellent nourishing qualities.

Meat prices continue to rise with no hope of lower prices for from six months to a year. Regardless of religious practice fish, eggs and cheese are good foods to choose because they are among the cheaper foods at present.

Oranges, grapefruit and strawberries offer the best fresh fruit values; and green peas, beans and cauliflower the best green vegetable values for this week.

Here are three menus made up of reasonable foods adapted to different budget levels:

Low Cost Dinner
